

Name: Steve McCorrison

Education/Career:

BA Economics (Strathclyde); MSc Agricultural Economics (Reading)
Lecturer, Reader and Professor, Department of Economics,
University of Exeter

Head, Department of Economics, University of Exeter, 2005-2011

Visiting Professor: Universities of Purdue, Melbourne, California, Davis, Wageningen
Visiting Scholar: OECD

Activities:

Research has focussed principally on trade, price dynamics and competition issues in agricultural and food markets. Research also includes publications in environmental economics, foreign direct investment and corruption.

Research awards:

European Association of Agricultural Economics, 2008: Prize for 'Quality of Policy Contribution' for the paper 'Do State Trading Exporters Distort Trade?' European Economic Review, 51: 225-246 (2007). (with D. MacLaren).

Agricultural Economics Society Honorary Award: Best Journal Article, 1993: "Policy Induced Capacity Constraints and Strategic Interaction in Processed Food Markets" Journal of Agricultural Economics, May 1992 (with I.M. Sheldon).

Service to the profession:

Guest Editor, Journal of Environment Economics and Management, Special Issue "Global Agreements and Trade", 2013

Guest Editor, Environment and Resource Economics, "The International Dimension of Climate Change Policy", 2013

Associate Editor, American Journal of Agricultural Economics, 2002-2006

External Editor, Journal of Agricultural Economics, 1999-2000.

Editorial Board, Journal of Agricultural Economics, 1994 - 1999.

Economic Advisory Panel, Department of Environment, Food and Rural Affairs

Advisory Board, UK National Food Strategy

Consultant to OECD, UN FAO, EU Commission, UK government departments

Contributing Author: UK Committee for Climate of Climate Change Adaptation

Service to the EAAE:

Editor, European Review of Agricultural Economics, 2012-2016

Editorial Board, European Review of Agricultural Economics, 1999-2011

Chair, Programme Committee, European Association of Agricultural Economists, Tri-Annual Conference, Zurich, 2011

Programme Committee, European Association of Agricultural Economists, Copenhagen (2005) and Zaragoza (2002)